Today I have good news. Part of my treatment was wrong and was corrected by doctors more careful that have given a better future prognosis for healing. I want to share with the sweet Cajsá tonight with whom I vented my discouragement and with all of you who are participating at Donna Flora A to Z.

Every post I cry a little or much, without modesty, without shame, when you say ... "Squinternet is badly in need of help" but the help can be money, drugs, but the commitment that I see you all in creating something nice for me, something that is more beautiful and shows my works make me feel the urge to get back with you soon.

I've seen in your posts beautiful images, words and unexpectedly for me so comforting and full of sincere concern and affection for me. You say, "you gave me something nice, and I will restore it as best I can do" ... this is worth more anything in the world. It enters deeply in my heart ... and supports me, It is ... Love. And it is certain, no one is afraid ... I will heal!

I met a new world in this adventure in RL, a guardian angel who is working on my health in a way that I hoped never to deserve, friends who support me as sisters ... and the security of having you here, far away in space but always by my side these days.

A Thank You Note from
Squinternet
